Business Men's Meeting Tuesday

TO DISCUSS TAXES, PRIORITY ORDERS, COSTS AT STATE CAPITAL

Indiana's so-called small business men harassed by ever-mounting taxes, priority orders and increased costs, will be given opportunity to air their troubles in a non-partisan meeting to be held at the Claypool Hotel in Indianapolis Tuesday, Sep-tember 9, at 2 p. m.

The meeting is called by Repre-sentative Charles A. Halleck of the Second Indiana District, in an ef-fort to obtain information relative to the troubles of the small merchant, manufacturer, professional man and others whose business affairs have been hampered almost to the point of extinction.

Representative Halleck recently was named by Representative Jos-eph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, as chairman of a com-mittee of national Representatives whose duty it will be to frame legis-lation designed to give aid to the small business man. The information gathered at the Indianapolis meet-ing and similar gatherings to be held throughout the country this commit-tee expects to use as a basis of the proposed legislation.

Operators of small businesses throughout Indiana regardless of their political affiliation, are invited to attend the Indianapolis meeting.

BELIEVE SUB WAS SUNK BY U. S. WARSHIP

ICELAND REPORTS DECLARE ATTACKING CRAFT WAS GERMAN U-BOAT

DEPTH BOMBS HIT TARGET

Instruments On American Destroyer Showed Submarine Was Directly Below Warship

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Indica-tions today were that the destroyer Greer sank, or at least damaged the submarine which attacked her on the North Atlantic, and for the first time the undersea craft was de-scribed as of German nationality.

At the same time Washington wondered if the navy had been given orders which amounted to a com-mand to destroy on sight any Axis submarine which it might encounter.
This, purely speculation grew from the fact that a hunt for the sub-marine was one, and a suggestion that it would be impossible to dis-tinguish the vessel from any subma-rine that might be found.

Details of the incident accumulat-ed with the arrival of the Greer at Reykjavik, Iceland, to which Ameri-can defense outpost she was carrying mail.

Dispatches from there said the submarine was described in Iceland as German.

Officers and crew members dis-closed that British aircraft helped them ward off the attack.

The Greer, they said, dropped many depth charges in an effort to destroy the submarine. At the time they were dropped the destroyer's instruments indicated that the sub was directly below in deep water.

For that reason they believed that the submarine might have been sunk without a telltale trace.

President Roosevelt, himself, dis-closed that a search for the subma-rine was on, with orders to "eliminate" it, if it should be found.

Although apprehensive, officia-ls here generally inclined to the view that the incident was not of sufficient magnitude to draw the United States into active warfare.

The Greer, a destroyer built in 1918, was carrying mail to Iceland.
Shortly after dawn Thursday a sub-marine encountered her and repeat-edly loosed torpedoes at her. All missed.

The navy released no information to indicate a belief that the Greer's depth bombs had taken effect, and the fact that a search for the sub-marine was instituted was taken to imply that official quarters thought they had not.

President Roosevelt told reporters that more than one attack had been made on the Greer. All occurred af-ter daylight.

Utility Merger Action Planned

PAPERS SCHEDULED TO BE FILED WITH SECRETARY OF STATE TODAY

Articles of consolidation were to be filed today with the Secretary of State of Indiana for a new Indiana corporation with a capitalization of $108,035,721.

The new company is Public Ser-vice Company of Indiana, Inc., a consolidation of Public Service Com-pany of Indiana, Northern Indiana Power Company, Central Indiana Power Company, Terre Haute Elec-tric Company, Inc. and Dresser Pow-er Corporation. The consolidating companies are interconnected at many points and serve the same ge-neral territory in central and south-ern Indiana.

With headquarters at Indianapolis, the new company, now the largest utility in the state, serves approxi-mately 222,000 electric customers, 49,000 gas and 27,000 water custom-ers in more than 600 cities and towns. As of August 1, 1941, the consolidated system had approxi-mately 3,150 employees.

Negotiations for the consolidation of the five companies have been un-der way for more than a year. Ev-ery step in the process has had the ap-proval of the Public Service Com-mission of Indiana and of the Se-curities and Exchange Commission in Washington.

The consolidation is the consum-mation of efforts which began near-ly 10 years ago to save the Indiana utilities from receivership when Mr.
Insull lost control of them through failure of his investment and holding companies. The new company is not controlled by any one group or per-son, the largest single stockholder being the Trustee of Midland United Company who owns less than 40 per -cent of the total common and pref-erred stock outstanding. Approximate-ly 4,500 of the company's stockhold-ers are residents of Indiana. Both the preferred and common stocks carry voting rights of one vote per share.

BIGGEST TAX BILL PASSED BY SENATORS

REVENUE MEASURE LARGEST IN HISTORY OF THE
UNITED STATES

HOUSE MUST ACT NOW

Lower Chamber To Consider New Tax Revenue Sources Added To Measure

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—By the top-heavy vote of 67 to 5, the Senate passed late yesterday a $3,583,900--000 revenue bill—the biggest tax measure in history and one which will bring an estimated 4,911,000 ad-ditional persons under the federal in-come tax structure.

The measure, which now goes back to the House for consideration of $367,500,000 in Senate increases, was whipped to final approval in only three days of debate. Leaders clear-ed the way for final action by stall-ing off two major controversies.

First, they won agreement from Senator Downey, Democrat, Califor-nia, to withhold until later his propo-sal to provide a $30 monthly pen-sion for all persons over 60. Then they dropped their fight for an amendment, estimated to raise $50--000,000 annually, which would have prevented husbands and wives in community property states from di-viding income when making tax re-turns.

Such division, which usually oper-ates to lower tax liability on joint incomes over $3,500, now is permit-ted in Louisiana, Texas, Arizona,
New Mexico, Nevada, California, Ida-ho and Washington.

The new measure, which raises ex-isting income tax rates and imposes new ones on both individuals and corporations, would lower present personal exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single individuals.

Supported by President Roosevelt but bitterly attacked by Senator La -Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, and several other senators, the lowered exemptions are expected by the Treasury to yield $303,000,000 an-nually in revenue and to require 4--911,000 additional persons to file in-come tax returns. However, it is estimated that because of various de-ductions only 2,256,000 additional persons actually will have to pay taxes.

The bill would levy a 10 per cent rate on bottom bracket incomes sub-ject to both the 4 per cent normal tax and a 6 per cent surtax. Rates would range upward to 81 per cent on incomes over $5,000,000.

The measure also raises existing corporation taxes and applies new surtax of 6 per cent on net income up to $25,000 and 7 per cent on in-come over that figure.

It levies a score of miscellaneous, or "nuisance," taxes on everything from footballs to furs, furnaces to phonographs.

The huge tax measure, which started its course through Congress early in April, must be studied now by a joint Senate-House committee which will adjust difference between the bills approved by the two bodies.

An effort of Donald Millikan, sent to the state penal farm from Hamilton county, to secure his release from that institution by habeas corpus proceedings, Friday, was unsuccessful. He was represented by Gillen & Lyon of Greencastle and Arthur J. Boyd, former deputy, now prosecuting attorney. When the court denied the petition, the attorneys for the petitioner moved for a new trial, which was overruled, whereupon they gave notice of an appeal to the Indiana State Supreme Court. IN MEMORY

In memory of my beloved son L. Cecil Bauer O'Brien who passed away, September 7, 1939.

Remembrance is a golden chain. Death tries to break, but all in vain; To have, to love, and then to part, Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart. The years may wipe out many things But this they wipe out never— The memory of those happy days When, Dockie and I were together.

A CLEAN RANGE IS NEW LONGER

SINCE housewives have been advised by the government to take extra care of the appliances they possess because some time may elapse before new equipment can be produced on a large scale, it will be easier if a daily or weekly routine of cleaning is worked out; then this can be followed without too much additional effort.

Take your modern gas range—purchased this year, last year, or even a few years before that—as an example. While a gas range lasts practically a lifetime and always gives good service, its newness can be prolonged indefinitely with reasonable cleanliness and care. Besides, it should be a matter of great satisfaction to every homemaker to know she is cooking on a clean appliance, rather than one she has permitted to get dirty.

By far the most effective daily "wiper-upper" for the range is a large piece paper towel, for this absorbs moisture and grease quickly, not to mention the almost microscopic particles of dust and grime in the atmosphere which sift onto all surfaces in the kitchen.

A paper towel comes in handy to wipe off top burners after they have been used and are cool; also the edges of the burner grates should be wiped free of any accumulated moisture or grease; spots and splatters of liquids such as milk, vinegar, lemon and tomato juices should be wiped from the enamel of the range at once to avoid stains.

From all reports, William Emerson "Slim" Bausman, also a former Purple and Gray hardwood tutor, is back at Rensselaer this season. We'll bet "Baus" has another good football team and here's wishing him the best of luck on the gridiron.

As usual "Gaumy" Neal, DePauw's head football coach, is pessimistic over Tiger prospects this fall. We remember how downcast "Gaumy" was a few years ago at the start of the season over his material, etc. That year, DePauw had the only undefeated, untied, and unscathed on eleven in the nation. Cheer up, "Gaumy!"

Art Gross, they tell us, is to coach at Winchester. Art, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Gross, played football and basketball for Greencastle only a few years back.

JOE LOUIS AND LOU NOVA SIGN FOR TITLE BATTLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and challenger Lou Nova officially signed today for their fifteen-round title bout at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 29. Within the next week, each fighter also will post a $5,000 forfeit to bind the contract.

Louis, who told reporters at the New York State Athletic Commission office he weighed 210 pounds, said that he'd seen Nova fight once, in his first bout with Baer; that he rated him good and strong and a tough opponent but that Lou "can't" be any tougher than Billy Conn, whom Joe knocked out in his most recent—and eighteenth—title defense.

The champion, who has been doing roadwork for a week, left this afternoon for Greenwood Lake, N. Y., where he will start boxing tomorrow.

SOLDIER BOY CAKE

I saw an interesting cake the other day made by the sister of a young draftee in honor of his visit home from camp. This "soldier-boy cake," as the sister called it, was in the center of the dining table. A big three-story white cake with wavy red stripes over its satiny smooth white icing. . . it rested on a big dark blue round of heavy paper with silver stars scattered over it. Guarding these stars and stripes were little tin soldiers stationed at intervals around the starry blue base. On top of the cake . . . in the very center . . . stood a little boy soldier holding a bugle to his lips.

If You Have A Boy In The Service
 It was a wonderfully effective and significant centerpiece. Best of all, it wouldn't be too difficult for any of us to copy. So if you live near a camp and occasionally entertain some of the boys . . . or if you've a son, or brother or friend in the service . . . or about to go into the service . . . I'm sure you'll enjoy making this Soldier Boy Cake.

Lincoln's Favorite White Cake
 This draftee's sister explained that she'd used the recipe for Lincoln's Favorite White Cake because it seemed, to her, particularly appropriate for a young soldier and also because it's a recipe that does make a very large and very delicious cake.

So here is the recipe for this luscious big white cake that really was made for Abraham Lincoln long ago . . . and enjoyed so much by him that to this day it is called "Lincoln's Favorite White Cake".

1 cup shortening (half butter for flavor)
 2 cups sugar
 3 cups sifted cake flour 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour 1/2 tsp. baking powder

1 tsp. salt
 1 cup milk
 1 cup almonds, blanched and cut fine 1 tsp. vanilla
 6 egg whites

Cream the shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream thoroughly. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together, and add to the creamed mixture alternately with the milk. Beat just enough to make the batter smooth.

Blend in the almonds and vanilla. Fold in the egg whites, beaten until stiff but not dry. Pour into 3 well-greased and floured 9-inch round layer pans and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F.

White Decorating Icing
 2 1/2 cups sugar
 1 cup plus 2 tbsp. water 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar

3 egg whites
 1 tsp. flavoring

Mix together the sugar, water and cream of tartar. Boil slowly without stirring until it spins an 8-inch thread, 240 to 242° F., keeping the pan covered for the first 3 minutes of cooking. Pour the hot syrup slowly into the stiffly beaten egg whites, beating with a rotary beater until the icing begins to stiffen. Add the flavoring. Then use a spoon or wire whip until mixture is fluffy and will hold its shape.

Remove a third of this icing and tint it red with red vegetable coloring. Reserve 3 tbsp. of this red icing for the stripes. Spread the rest over the bottom and second layers of the cake. Spread the white icing over the top and sides of the cake. Pipe the remaining red icing over the top of the iced cake in 1/4 inch stripes about 1 inch apart. Then draw a knife quickly across through the stripes at 1 inch intervals. This will give the stripes a wavy look that is very effective.

White Sands National Monument, New Mexico

This is an amazing and almost unique phenomenon of nature. It looks like a page from the Arabian Nights.

A desert of the whitest sand you ever saw, it covers some 250 square miles. The expanse of rolling, gypsum sand dunes is surrounded by the contrasting, dark and rugged Sacramento and San Andres Mountains. To the north rises Sierra Blanca (White Mountain) whose 12,000 foot peak is only now losing its winter cap of snow.

Established as a National Monument eight years ago and located near the center of New Mexico's southern border, it takes in about 40 percent of the granular deposits themselves and a section of the surrounding valley, a total area of 143,146 acres. The Park Service staff, headed by the obliging Custodian, Mr. John Will Faris, keeps this marvel of nature in its proper state of natural beauty.

Driving in on a road leading through rippling, white sands and past scores of glittering dunes, we reached the heart of the wasteland. It seemed virginal and unexplored, but that's because the wind quickly wipes out visitors' footprints.

We left the road on foot as cars aren't allowed to drive over the dunes. A few bayonette cactus and brittle desert growths are scattered over the unbelievably white sands that are constantly swept by the winds into ever-changing shapes. Coyotes roam the area and we saw many at close range in broad daylight. Protected here, they stared back boldly before loping off into the beautiful desert.

Strange little mice scampered about almost unseen. They've turned white to match their glistening surroundings. Later we saw their brothers on the drab colored flats adjoining the desert and they wore coats of brown. Further north, in the dark, lava-flow country, we noticed they had turned almost black.

It is generally agreed, by the fellows who know about such things, that White Sands came from the massive beds of gypsum known to underlie the valley basin. Dissolved in underground waters that percolated to the surface, the gypsum was left as a thick crust by evaporation. Crumbling through the ages and weathered by wind, this crust has turned to drifting sands of fantastic beauty.

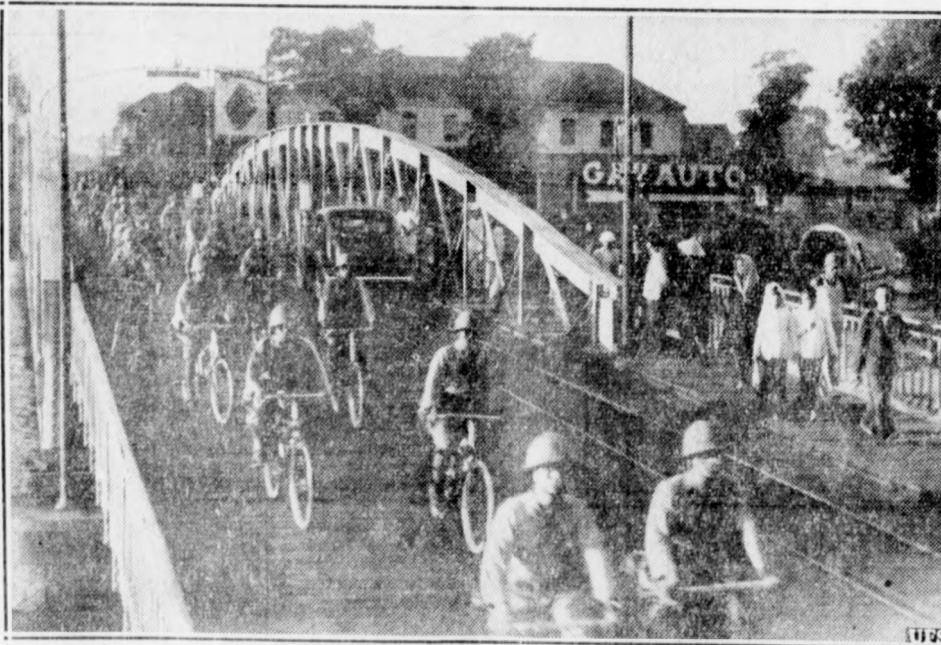

The process is still going on, so these dunes are constantly acquiring new companions. Production must be slow, however, because this gleaming white desert appears no larger today than when I first saw it years ago.

They tell me the entire body of sand is slowly drifting towards the town of Alamogordo at the rate of 8 to 10 inches a year. But, being 15 miles away, it shouldn't be worried. I figured out that it won't be engulfed for at least 100,000 years.

The sands began to cool rapidly at sundown, which is the best time to view this magic land. In the slanting rays of the sun the shadowed dunes and ripples stand out more clearly. It is also the time to use your camera, though your memory alone will long retain a picture of this magnificent scene.

CANNON CAR—Close-up of jeep with 37-millimeter cannon mounted on it. It's one of Uncle Sam's newest weapons for Army's new tank-destroyer units. Assistant War Secretary John McCloy, left, and Major C. M. Drury of Canadians inspect it at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

WHEELING INTO INDO-CHINA—First Japanese troops to occupy Indo-China, in Japan's drive to south, wheel into Saigon on bicycles. Third at left mounts what appears to be small machine gun on handlebars of his bike. Those helmets aren't "fin derbies," but are made of cloth.

U. S. MIGHT—This is one of new medium tanks of First Armored Division, which Major General Bruce Magruder commands. Mighty defense weapon gets under way at Fort Knox, Ky., to start 730-mile motor march to maneuver battlefields in Louisiana. More than 250,000 soldiers of Uncle Sam's mobilized army are taking part in vast war games.
